Strength of legislature (Legislative Assembly) : 140

Estimate of party strength in Assembly : Congress (53) ; Communists (46) ; K.L.P. (16) ; Independents (13) ; P.S.P. (12).

No. of members from Andhra in the Council of States : 12.

No. of members from Andhra in the House of the People : 28.

The Andhra State came into being on Oct. 1, 1953

It was formed by an Act of Parliament called the Andhra State Act, 1953 which received the President's assent on Sept. 14.

It was formed from the above-mentioned Districts of Madras State and the Alur, Adoni and Rayadurg Taluks of Bellary District in that State.

The Alur and Adoni Taluks were included into Kurnool District, and the Taluk of Rayadurg into Anantapur District.

The decision to form an Andhra State was announced by the Government of India on Dec. 19, 1952.

Mr. Justice K. N. Wanchoo (Chief Justice of Rajasthan) was appointed to report on the financial and other implications of the new State.

This report was presented on Feb. 7, 1953, and the Government of India announced their decision on the Wanchoo Report on March 25, 1953.

The decision was that the new State was to be formed from the eleven undisputed Telugu Districts and the three Talukas of Adoni, Alur and Rayadurg of Bellary District.

Six out of the remaining Taluks of Bellary were to be included in Mysore State as they were mainly Kannada-speaking. The exception was the Bellary Taluka.

About Bellary District, Mr. Justice Wanchoo had reported that it should be included in Andhra territory till such time as a Karnatak State consisting preponderately of Kannada-speaking people was formed.

Alternatively the three Telugu-speaking Talukas of Alur, Adoni and Rayadurg should be allotted to the new State and the remaining seven Talukas should be formed into a separate Bellary District also to be included in the new State with necessary safeguards for the preservation of Kannada language and culture.

The Government of India, however, made a different decision as outlined above about the Bellary District. And to decide the future of Bellary Taluka they wanted a special report.

So on Apr. 21, 1953 the Government appointed Mr. Justice L. S. Misra, Chief Justice of the Hyderabad High Court, to enquire and report. He started working on Apr. 27, and presented his report on May 19. He recommended that the Bellary Taluka should be merged into Mysore since a majority of the people were Kannada-speaking.

The Government of India accepted the recommendation.

So eventually, three Talukas in Bellary District were included in Andhra and the rest of the seven Talukas were included in Mysore and were formed into a separate District, Bellary in Mysore State.

The figures about Bellary Taluka quoted by Mr. Justice Misra were as follows :

Total population : 171,226 ; Kannada-speaking : 89,925 (52.52 per cent) ; Telugu-speaking : 43,317 (25.29 per cent) ; Others : 37,984 (22.19 per cent).

GEOGRAPHY

The shape of Andhra is rather curious. A long neck with protruding belly would be an apt description. It has a chain of mountains, the Eastern Ghats, running over its entire length on the eastern and northern borders.

There are huge forest areas in Srikakulam, Vishakapatnam and Godavari and Kurnool Districts.

The landscape is varied and rich. It ranges from the smiling ever-green plains of the Godavari and Krishna deltas, the rocky drought-stricken plateau of Rayalaseema, the undulating uplands of Northern Circars to the flat sandy downs in Nellore and Guntur.

The climate is warm and humid or hot and humid according to the season.

The average annual rainfall is highest in the north varying between 45 inches and 50 inches. It gradually decreases to the south and south-west down to about 20 inches.

Two-thirds of the rain is from the south-west monsoon.

The rainfall is erratic both in time and quantity. The smaller the rainfall the more erratic it is.

Srikakulam, Vishakapatnam, parts of Godavari and Nellore suffer from periodic floods and droughts, while the others are more liable to suffer from droughts.

There are no mountains of the type of the Sahyadri range, but there are hills and tablelands scattered throughout the State. Some of the hills are high and are covered with useful forest, some carry scrub jungle, while many are quite bare.

The soils of Andhra consist of the alluvial of the deltas and littoral tracts, red, black and brown soils.

The agricultural value depends on the texture, but there is not much information about productivity. The interesting point is that while the top-soil is being washed away year after year, the remaining soil at the bottom continues to produce in the same measure as before.

There are two major rivers, the Godavari and the Krishna, three medium rivers with a large number of tributaries, and twenty-nine minor and small rivers. It is estimated that together they carry annually 150 million acre ft. of water into the Bay of Bengal.

The Godavari flows for 225 miles through the State before it falls into the Bay of Bengal. Its main tributaries are the Manjira, the Pranahita, the Indravati, and the Sabari. The river drains about 121,500 sq. miles and carries as much as two million cuacs in very high floods.

The Krishna drains 97,000 sq. miles and its flood discharge is about a million cubic feet per second. The total dependable flow is about 39.4 million acre feet. The main tributaries are Tungabhadra, Yerla, Wara and Dudh-ganga.

The medium rivers are the Pennar, the Nagavalli, the Vamsadhara.

AGRICULTURE

The total food production is estimated to be about 8.14 million tons, giving a surplus of about a quarter million tons.

The State will be able to export between 200,000 and 300,000 tons per annum, mostly in rice and a little of millets.

The area of the State is classified as under (the figures which are for 1950-51 are in thousand acres) :

Area : 40,709 ; forests : 7,991 ; Area not available for cultivation : 8,010 ; Other uncultivated land excluding current fallows : 4,548 ; Current fallows : 4,524 ; Net area sown : 15,510 ; Total cropped area : 17,404 ; Area sown more than once : 1,894.

The area under principal crops is as follows (thousand acres) :

Rice 4,241 ; Jowar 2,893 ; Bajra 1,072 ; Maize 28 ; Ragi 637 ; Small Millets 2,043 ; Wheat 8 ; Barley (less than 500) ; Total Cereals 10,897 ; Gram 104 ; Sugar cane 137 ; Tobacco 245.

The production of principal crops in thousand tons is as follows :

Rice 1,807 ; Jowar 534 ; Bajra 207 ; Maize 11 ; Ragi 221 ; Small millets 269 ; Wheat 1 ; Total cereals 3,050.

Gram 16 ; Sugar cane (Gur or Jaggery) 380 ; Tobacco 76 ; Castor 166.

The area under cash crops in thousand acres is as follows :

Groundnut 2,222 ; Castor 166 ; Sesamum 332 ; Rape and Mustard 5 ; Linseed 2 ; Total oilseeds 2,727 ; Cotton 677.

The production of cash crops in thousand tons is as follows :

Groundnuts (Nuts in Shell) 777 ; Castor 13 ; Sesamum 39 ; Rape and Mustard, (less than 500) ; Linseed, (less than 500) ; Total Oilseeds 829 ; Cotton 86.

Mangoes 6 lakh tons ; Oranges 42,000 tons ; Lemons 40,000 tons.

The yield per acre in maunds is as follows :

Rice 11.61 ; Jawar 5.03 ; Bajra 5.37 ; Maize 11.06 ; Ragi 9.43 ; Small millets 3.50 ; Wheat 11.06 ; Gram 4.07 ; Sugar cane (Gur or Jaggery) 75.57 ; Tobacco 8.45 ; Groundnut (Nuts in Shell) 9.52 ; Castor 2.10 ; Sesamum 3.18 ; Rape and Mustard 2.48 ; Linseed 2.32 ; Cotton (Lint) 0.61.

Incidence of Land Revenue assessment on the area and population in acres is as follows

Raiyatwari : 25,612,963 ; Estates : 13,033,885 Total : 38,646,849.

Area not fully assessed : (Raiyatwari) : 11,588,426 ; (Estates) : 6,453,485 ; Total : 18,041,911.

Fully assessed area : (Raiyatwari) : 14,024,537 (Estates) : 6,580,400 ; Total : 20,604,937.

Cultivated : (Raiyatwari) : 10,516,410 ; (Estates) : 3,273,223 ; Total : 13,789,633.

Total revenue from land (excluding cesses (Raiyatwari) : Rs. 2,78,47,226 ; Estates Rs. 65,98,892 ; Total : Rs. 3,44,46,118.

Population : (Raiyatwari) : 11,258,504 ; (Estates) : 8,009,496 ; Total : 19,268,000.

Total revenue from land per head of population : (Raiyatwari) : Rs. 2.7.7 ; (Estates) : Rs. 0.13.2 ; Total : Rs. 1.12.7.

Land revenue assessment on fully assessed area : (Raiyatwari) : Rs. 2,44,20,926 ; (Estates) : Rs. 66,42,992 ; Total : Rs. 3,00,63,918.

Incidence per acre of land revenue on fully assessed area : for total area (Raiyatwari) : Rs. 1.11.10 ; (Estates) : Rs. 0.13.9 ; Total : Rs. 1.7.4.

For cultivated area (Raiyatwari) : Rs. 2.5.2 (Estates) : Rs. 1.11.7 ; Total : Rs. 2.2.11.

Population of fully assessed area (Raiyatwari) : 11,258,504 ; (Estates) : 8,009,496 ; Total : 19,268,000.

* Thousand bales of 392 lbs. each of cotton lint.

Land revenue assessment per head of population of fully assessed area (Raiyatwari): Rs. 2-2-9; (Estates): Re. 0-11-3; Total: Rs. 1-9-0.

No. of towns of over 10,000 inhabitants (Raiyatwari): 58; (Estates): 15; Total: 73.

Aggregate population (Raiyatwari): 1,369,828; (Estates): 339,605; Total: 1,709,333.

Forests occupy about 19 per cent of the total area. The more useful species of timber produced are Korum, Toon, Rosewood, Irul, Teak. Bamboo suitable for the manufacture of paper pulp also occur in abundance.

MINERALS AND INDUSTRIES

There has been no detailed geological investigation. But it is believed that the State is rich in mineral deposits.

The deposits are of manganese, mica, barytes, limestone, gypsum, iron, copper. The coal is of poor quality.

The more important minerals are manganese in Vishakapatnam and mica in Nellore.

There are three zones of mineral concentration: Cuddapah for asbestos, barytes, limestone and steatite; Nellore for mica, feldspar, garnet, glass-sands, kyanite; Eastern Ghats for graphite, clays, mica, limestone.

The estimated output of some of the individual minerals are as follows:

Manganese: 100,000 tons; Mica: 15,000 to 20,000 cwt.; Ochre: 4,000 tons; Chromite: 5,000 tons. Barytes: 20,000 to 28,000 tons.

The more important industries are: rice milling, oil milling, jaggery, sugar, textiles, cement.

There are nine sugar factories with an installed capacity of about half a lakh of tons of sugar per annum; and two cement factories with an annual productive capacity of 175,000 tons.

The number of working spindles is about 26,000.

IRRIGATION, POWER

The figures given below are in acres.

Total area irrigated: 4-61 mln.; Area irrigated by Government canals: 2-71 mln.; By private canals: 46,000; By tanks: 1-21 mln.; By wells: 459,000; By other sources: 164,000.

Total irrigated area under cereals: 4-49 mln.; Under pulses: 22,000; Under other food crops: 52,000. Total under all food crops: 4-68 mln.

Irrigated area under rice: 3-98 mln.; Under jawar: 39,000; Under bajra: 101,000; Under maize: 1,000; Under ragi: 332,000; Under wheat: 4,000; Under other cereals: 29,000; Under gram: 1,000; Under thor: 2,000; Under other pulses: 19,000; Under sugarcane: 114,000; Under cotton: 1,000; Under other non-food crops: 325,000.

The chief irrigation works now in operation are the Godavari Anicut system, the Krishna Anicut system, the Pennar Canals system, Kurnool-Cuddapah Canal, the tanks connected with the Pennar and its tributaries, Pennar-Kumudavathi project.

The Godavari Anicut is located at Dowlai-shwaram in Godavari and irrigates an area of from 5 to 9 lakh acres in the two Districts. The Anicut is in four sections connected by islands and the aggregate length of the four sections is about three and a half miles. The catchment of the river is 115,000 sq. miles, and the maximum flood discharge is over 2 million cubic ft. per second.

Three main canals take off to irrigate eastern, western and central deltas respectively. The total draw-off is 11,500 cubic ft. per second, and they irrigate an area of about 900,000 acres in the first crop season, and 500,000 in the second.

The Godavari system fetches annually an irrigation revenue of Rs. 58 lakhs and a navigation revenue of 2½ lakhs.

The Krishna Anicut is located at Vijayawada in Krishna District, and irrigates an area of about 1,000,000 acres.

The maximum flood discharge is estimated at 1-19 million cubic ft. per second.

The Anicut is 6 furlongs long and is provided with 6 falling shutters.

The main canals are also navigable. And with the Godavari canal system one can travel a long distance by boat.

The Krishna Anicut system brings a little over Rs. 60 lakhs annually by way of revenue to the Government.

Another source of irrigation is the Kurnool-Cuddapah Canal which takes off from the Sunkesula Anicut in the Tungabhadra River. The Canal is 190 miles long and traverses the Kurnool and Cuddapah Districts. The carrying capacity of the Canal at the head is 2,000 cubic feet per second and the irrigable area 120,000 acres, though the irrigated area is 85,000 acres. It yields a revenue of only 4 lakhs annually.

The Pennar Kumudavathi project near Hindupur irrigates about 9,000 acres.

Among the projects under construction the Tungabhadra is the biggest. The total area expected to be brought under cultivation is about 300,000 acres in Kurnool and Bellary Districts, part of which will be in Mysore.

Under construction is also the Upper Pennar project intended to bring about 6,000 acres under cultivation.

The two super-projects of Krishna-Pennar and Ramapadasagar are very much in the future, and when completed will irrigate nearly a million acres.

Projects awaiting consideration are: Bhalra-vantippa on the Hagari river in Anantapur District, Mid Pennar project, Gandikotah project, Somasila Dam.

No hydro-electric power has so far been developed in Andhra State.

The thermal power installed is about 33,125 kW and the annual consumption about 87 million units.

It is estimated however that the river basins of Andhra are capable of giving more than half a million kW of firm hydro-electric power.

Notes on projects some under construction and some under investigation are given below:

The Machkund hydro-electric project is located on the Machkund, a tributary of the Godavari near the Duduma falls on the borders of Orissa. Its ultimate capacity is 102,000 kW and is now in an advanced stage of construction. The first stage comprises three generating units of 17,000 kW each and the Jalaput storage reservoir (25,400 million cubic ft.) is expected to commence operation early in 1955.

Power will be made available in the districts of Srikakulam, Vishakapatnam, West Godavari, East Godavari, Krishna and Guntur.

The cost of the scheme is estimated at between Rs. 13 and 15 crores.

The Tungabhadra scheme which is also under construction comprises two power stations, one at Hospet (which is almost completed) and the second on the main irrigation canal 15 miles away.

About 27,000 kW of power will be available initially and 63,000 kW ultimately of which about 32,000 kW will be firm power.

The power will be distributed from about 22 sub-stations in the four districts of Bellary, Anantapur, Kurnool and Cuddapah.

The power house sites are in that part of Bellary which is now in Mysore.

Andhra and Mysore will share power in the ratio of 70:30.

The total cost of the scheme is between Rs. 7 and 8 crores.

The Ramapadasagar project investigated but not sanctioned may afford electric power 150,000 kW.

Krishna-Pennar project with reservoirs at Siddheswaram, Nandikonda, Pulichentla, is estimated to give power of the order of 100, MW.

The present demands of Andhra State are about 20,400 kW. About 251 towns and villages—less than 2 per cent—have electric supply. The per capita consumption is about 4 units. In 1958 when the Machkund and Tungabhadra projects have been in operation for two to three years the per capita consumption would go upto 15 units.

The following tables show particulars about irrigation and power projects under the Five-Year Plan :

The total mileage of railway is 1,935.

Andhra has one major port, Vishakapatnam; two intermediate ports—Kakinada, Masulipatnam; one minor port, Bhimilipatam.

For inland transport Andhra has three large rivers, the Godavari, the Krishna and the Tungabhadra, traversing its territory.

It has also a well-developed canal navigation system.

The Godavari offers a total of 500 miles for navigation, the Godavari Canal 188 miles, the Krishna Canal 400 and the Buckingham Canal 258.

The traffic on the Godavari Canal alone is over a million a year.

Total enrolment in secondary schools: 253,301; no. of boys: 218,380; no. of girls: 34,921.

In the Agency areas there were four secondary schools.

Forty-one secondary schools are equipped with 35 m.m. film strip projectors, 79 with 16 m.m. projectors. Three hundred and ten secondary schools are equipped with radios.

Compulsory education is in force in the municipalities of Vishakapatnam, Rajahmundry, Eluru, Masulipatnam, Hindupur, Proddatur, and Nellore for boys only; and in the municipality of Kakinada for both boys and girls.

The Andhra University was established in 1926. It is a combination of the unitary and affiliating type of university. It has 20 departments and the students live in hostels in the campus.

It maintains four colleges—one of arts and science, another of science and technology, a third of natural sciences and a fourth of law.

Six professional colleges and 22 arts colleges are affiliated to it.

There are only two women's colleges in the whole area—Government College, Guntur and St. Theresa's Satyavati Devi College, Eluru.

One of the objects of the University was the development of Telugu so that it could be made the medium of instruction at the university stage. But the medium of instruction today is still English.

Technical and industrial institutions included 4 polytechnics, 9 industrial schools, 7 arts and crafts schools.

The total enrolment was 1,522. Of these the no. of boys was 1,239, and of girls 283.

There were 23 commercial schools with a total enrolment of 3,075. Of these the no. of boys was 3,075, and of girls 96.

The no. of schools for social education was 1,509 and the total enrolment 44,620. Of these the no. of boys was 42,898, and the no. of girls 1,722.

There were 2 schools for the blind, and 2 for children afflicted with leprosy. The total enrolment was 126—87 boys and 39 girls.

The number of Oriental Colleges was 12—10 for men and 2 for women. The total enrolment was 481—435 men and 46 women.

There were 12 Oriental schools with a total enrolment of 517. Of these 168 were boys and 349 girls.

There were 2 Hindi Pracharak Vidyalayas with a total strength of 93—87 men and 6 women.

The number of teachers' training schools was 56, and the total enrolment was 8,207—5,216 men and 2,991 women.

In addition there were 16 Basic Training Schools for men and one for women. They had a total strength of 2,311—2,119 men and 192 women.

The National Cadet Corps (Junior Division) was working well. Twenty-three high schools participated and raised 33 units—Army Wing 30, Naval Wing 3.

FINANCES

To give an indication of the finances of the State Justice Wanchoo quoted the actuals for 1951-52.

The revenue and expenditure (figures in lakhs of rupees) are as follows:

Revenue

Direct receipts	1,408.70
Share of allocable items	361.19
Total	1,769.89

Expenditure

Direct expenditure	1,698.82
Share of allocable expenditure	573.89
Total	2,272.71

The deficit is about Rs. 502.82 lakhs.

The capital outlay in Andhra was Rs. 4,185.67 lakhs.

A break-up of the revenue figures would be as follows (Rs. lakhs):

Land revenue	406.91
Excise	16.56
Stamps	241.57
Registration	28.18
Receipts under M.V. Acts	120.16
Other taxes, duties including General Sales Tax	433.47
Other direct receipts (Education, Medical, etc.)	161.85

A break-up of the expenditure is as follows (figures in lakhs of rupees):

General administration	284.78
Administration of justice	53.28
Jails and Convict settlements	23.45
Police	217.28
Education	386.16
Medical and Public Health	129.66
Agriculture, Veterinary, Co-operation and Industries	152.98
Other items	471.83

Justice Wanchoo discusses the question of bridging the gap between revenue and expenditure.

He rejects the following suggestions as being problematical or of only long-term interest: revenue from new electricity schemes, more income from the abolition of zamindari, more revenue from development of forests and revenue, retrenchment in service establishments, diversion of Sales and Motor Taxes from Madras City, tightening up of Sales Tax administration, increase of water cess in the Krishna and Godavari Districts.

He opined that the deficit can be decreased from Rs. 5 crores to about Rs. 2.5 crores, as more revenue may accrue from the following factors: Andhra State is likely to get more from the Centre from income tax receipts and Central excise receipts (Rs one crore); Rationing and Civil Supplies Department may be abolished (Rs. 33 lakhs saving). Licences on export of food (Rs. one crore), single Chamber legislature (a few lakhs saving), dispersal of the armed police now located chiefly in the Andhra Districts.

Mr Justice Wanchoo's final recommendation was for the abolition of prohibition which would result in extra revenue to the tune of about Rs. 560 lakhs. Andhra State would then have enough funds to finance the Tungabhadra and Machkund and other Five-Year Plan projects.

In the division of assets and liabilities two broad principles were observed. The location of property, and where the property was movable a division between Madras, Andhra and Mysore in the ratio of 62½ : 36 : 1½.

In case of disagreement the President would be the final judge.

Madras and Mysore are to make available certain facilities to Andhra in respect of the following institutions for a certain period as may be agreed upon :

The Presidency Jail for Women, Vellore, The Senior Certified School, Chingleput, The Junior Certified School, Bellary, The Central Jail, Bellary, The Allpuram Jail, Bellary, The Borstal School, Bellary, The King Institute, Gulundi, The Irrigation Research Station, Poondi, The Police Training College, Vellore, The Finger Print Bureau, Vellore, The Government Press, Madras, The Government Textile Institute, Madras, The Government College of Indigenous Medicine, Madras, The Madras Fire Services State Training School, Madras, The Veterinary College, Madras, The Serum Institute, Ranipet, The Barnard Institute of Radiology, Madras, The Chemical Examiner's Department, Madras, The Central Survey Office, Madras, The Government Lady Willingdon Leprosy Sanatorium Tirumani, Rayalaseema Polytechnic, Bellary, The Government Wellesley Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Bellary.

GEOGRAPHY

The river basins are naturally fertile and present in the main few difficulties to the cultivator. Rice is the staple food crop. Rainfall being high the problem in general is to dispose of the surplus water and to control the action of floods rather than irrigation in the usual sense. Tea and jute are the most important crops grown for export. Besides, potatoes are also cultivated in Assam. A good deal of short staple cotton is grown in the hills.

Rainfall is everywhere abundant, and ranges from 50 to 258 inches a year leaving aside the highest recorded rainfall in this part of India with the maximum reached at Cherrapunji in the Khasi Hills (569.50); this is one of the wettest places in the world. Temperatures are moderate.

Earthquakes of considerable severity have taken place. By far the worst was that which occurred in 1950 August, one of the world's five biggest recorded tremors.

LAND TENURE SYSTEM

There are two classes of land tenure system in the State the permanently settled estates and the temporarily settled estates.

Permanently settled estates: These are found in Goalpara District and Karimganj Sub-division of the Cachar District. The land is held by zamindars having intermediaries under them. The actual tillers of the land are the tenants who hold land either directly under the zamindars or intermediaries. The tenants also pay a fixed amount of rent.

Temporary settlement system: Also known as the Ryotwari system. Prevails in the other plain districts of the State. These lands can be divided into La-Khiraj, Nisf-Hiraj and Khiraj.

Initially all these lands were absolutely free from revenue. Subsequently lands except those granted for maintenance of temples were assessed only to half revenue. The lands assessed to full revenue were called Khiraj lands.

The peculiarity of this system is that generally the cultivators hold lands directly under the Government unlike the lands in permanently settled estates.

The Khiraj lands are again divided into two categories periodic and annual. The periodic landowner has a heritable and transferable right whereas the annual landowner has a right of occupation only and has no right of transfer or subletting. Subject to the payment of the land revenue the owners of annual lands have a right of renewal of the lease from year to year.

Jhumming Cultivation. Prevails in the hill districts of Assam. Here a particular group of people jointly occupy a particular area. They have no individual right over the land. In lieu of land revenue they pay a sort of tax known as House tax, Hoc tax or Dao tax which generally varies from Rs 2 to Rs 3 per family.

MINES

The only minerals in Assam worked on a commercial scale are coal, limestone and petroleum oil. Petroleum output 6,00,00,000 gallons, coal output 3,25,000 tons; and limestone output 9,80,000 tons. The most extensive coal measures hitherto worked are in the Naga Hills and the Lakhimpur district. Important deposits also exist in the Garo Hills. Limestone is quarried in the Khasi and Jaintia Hills. Petroleum is worked only in Lakhimpur and Cachar, and refined only in Lakhimpur.

Accounts of the occurrence of petroleum in Assam have been published in the memoirs of the Geological Survey of India. The petroleum localities in this State are confined to a curved belt of country along the basins of the Brahmaputra and the Surma. This belt is traceable over a distance of some 800 miles from N. E. Assam through Cachar and Chittagong to the Arakan coast, where it has a S. S. E. trend.

Silk is manufactured in the Assam valley; also cotton weaving prevails as a cottage industry, women playing a predominant part. In this valley there are no caste weavers. In the Surma Valley weavers carry on a brisk manufacture on a commercial scale. These handloom products find a ready market on account of the great scarcity of mill made goods.

Tea is of course the main industry, but there is a large petroleum mining concern and also some coal-mines. There is a big match manufacturing concern at Dhubri. Boat-building, brass and metal and earthenware, and limestone burning, cane and bamboo work, furniture making, sola hat, smithy, brick making, mustard oil pressing, rice and saw mills are other industries but agriculture employs about 80 per cent of the population. Assam carries on a considerable trade with the adjoining hill tribes and countries.

TRANSPORT

Much of the trade of Assam is carried by river. The extensive system of river communications makes the State less dependent upon roads than other parts of India but there has been much advance in recent years in road communication. A fleet of steamers maintained by the India General Navigation Company and the Rivers Steam Navigation Company plies on the rivers in both Valleys. There is a day service of passenger-boats between Tezpur and Neamatli.

The open mileage of railway has also shown a steady improvement and several branch lines to the railway system in Assam have been added in recent years including the new Railway joining Assam directly with the rest of India. A branch of the line runs from Badarpur to Silchar at the eastern end of the Surma Valley and another runs west down the Assam Valley from Lumding to Pandu.

The first direct link by air between Calcutta and Gauhati was established on December 14, 1947. This air service was originally on a non-scheduled basis but very soon it became a daily service which has since been extended to Dibrugarh.

The Assam Government have undertaken an experiment in transport organization with the nationalisation of motor transport on a 75-mile long road connecting Gauhati and Nowgong.

Post-war road improvement programme envisages an expenditure of Rs. 5 crores over a period of 6 years. It covers not only construction of new roads but also includes improvement of existing roads to a better standard. The scheme also embraces a large bridging programme.

The road programme has its special significance in that it is being designed with a view to making Assam self-sufficient in the matter of having its export and import to and from other parts of the Indian Republic transported quickly without having to pass through the Pakistan Dominion. At the same time communications within the State have also been improved by provision of necessary feeder roads from and to the arterial road system of the State with a view to securing good market for the surplus produce of certain localities.

CIVIL SUPPLIES

GEOGRAPHY

Bihar lies between 20°30' and 27°30' N. latitude and between 82°31' and 88°26' E. longitude and includes the former States of Serakella and Kharsawan. It is bounded on the north by Nepal and the Darjeeling District of West Bengal ; on the east by West Bengal and East Pakistan ; on the south by the State of Orissa ; and on the west by Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh.

The area of the territories which constitute the Governorship of Bihar is 70,330 square miles. The State comprises the plateau-land of Chota Nagpur and the valley of the Ganges from the spot where it issues from the territories of the Governor of Uttar Pradesh till it enters West Bengal near Rajmahal. Following the main geographical lines, there are four Civil Divisions with headquarters at Patna, Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur and Ranchi. The headquarters of Government are at Patna. The new capital which lies between the Military Cantonment of Dinapore and the old civil station of Bankipore is known as "Patna," the old town being called "Patna City."

Bihar is more thickly populated than Germany. Hindus form an overwhelming majority of the population. Though Muslims form about one-tenth of the total population they constitute more than one-fifth of urban population of the State. Animists account for about 6 per cent. These are inhabitants of the Chota Nagpur plateau and the Santal Parganas, the latter district being a continuation of the plateau in a north-easterly direction.

Although there is a great deal of mineral wealth in Chota Nagpur and important industries are developing in connection with it, still for the bulk of the population of the State agriculture continues to be the basic occupation. Over 80 per cent of the population depends wholly on agriculture, while only 7-8 depends on industries.

The soil throughout the whole of that portion of the Indo-Gangetic plain lying within the State boundaries is extremely fertile, particularly in North Bihar, in parts of which the density of the population is more than 900 people to the square mile. The State occupies a transitional position between Ganges delta with its damp climate so suitable for the paddy crop and the States to the north and west where large irrigation schemes have had to be provided to enable the soil to produce its bounty. As in the delta of the Ganges, rice is by far the most important crop as it occupies normally an area of approximately 12 million acres or over 50 per cent of the net cropped area of the State. As canal irrigation is available only in the Sone Valley and to a moderate extent in Champaran District, the importance of the south-west monsoon to the State of Bihar cannot be overestimated.

In addition to the rice crop, however, other grain crops are grown on a tolerably large scale. Of the monsoon cereals, maize, wheat and barley are extensively grown. The cultivation of oilseeds like castor, mustard and linseed forms a large and important part of the agriculture of Bihar.

After Uttar Pradesh, Bihar is the most important white sugar area in India, some 23 per cent of the total production of white sugar in the country being turned out in Bihar factories.

Jute is also an important crop and is confined almost entirely to the Purnea District on the West Bengal border.

Tobacco is a crop of increasing importance in the State and one which is likely to expand in importance.

LARGE-SCALE INDUSTRY

The main large-scale industries are :

Iron and Steel, Aluminium, Lead, Foundry, General and electrical engineering, Bicycles, Tanning, Leather goods and foot-wear making, Sulphate of ammonia, Hume pipe and R.C.C. products, Asbestos products, Glass and glass-ware, Ceramics, Cement, Heavy chemicals, Woollen textiles, Cotton textiles, Jute textiles, Silk and Art silk, Tobacco, Distilleries, Bezoil, Sugar, food industries, Roller flour mills, Mica and Shellac.

The number of registered factories in Bihar on 31st December 1951 : 2,805.

Number of registered factories in individual principal industries as on 31-12-1951 :

Sugar including 9 Khandasari and 5 Gur factories 40, Cement 5, Iron and Steel including foundries 17, Chemicals 12, Electrical undertakings 22, Rice Milling 119, Dal Milling 21, Flour Milling 22, Cotton textile including 2 small handloom factories 4, Oil Milling 7, Engineering 7, Railway workshop 9, Silk Textile 7, Saw Milling and wood working 29, Paper, Pulp and Paper board 3, Bricks and Tiles 14, Glass and Glassware 10, Motor Vehicles 35, and Jute 4.

Total number of workmen employed in the mines : 2,32,673.

Number of workmen employed in individual industries as on 31-12-1951 :

Sugar 22,507, Cement 4,125, Iron and Steel 34,832, Chemicals 918, Electrical undertakings 2,587, Rice Milling 4,777, Dal Milling 379, Flour Milling 234, Oil Milling 2,571, Cotton Textile 1,398, Engineering 623, Railway workshop 13,623, Silk Textile 307, Saw Milling and Wood working 605, Paper, Pulp and Paper Board 1,309, Bricks and tiles 6,837, Glass and Glassware 1,519, Motor Vehicles 1,007 and Jute 6,103.

COTTAGE INDUSTRIES

Budget allotment for land reclamation for 1951-52 : Rs. 1,33,325, and for 1952-53 : Rs. 1,27,778.

LAND TENURE

The land tenure system in Bihar is governed by the following Tenancy Acts: The Bihar Tenancy Act, 1855, The Chotanagpur Tenancy Act, 1908 and the Santal Parganas Tenancy (Supplementary Provision) Act, 1949.

There are three types of proprietors of lands. 1) The Zamindars having proprietary right in by far the largest area in the State. 2) Proprietors with whom a very small area is settled periodically for a term of years and 3) the Government holding an equally small area as landlord.

The raiyats are classified as raiyats at fixed rents or rates and occupancy raiyats. A very small area is held by non-occupancy raiyats who have no permanent and heritable interest in their holdings. There is also a small number of under raiyats having occupancy rights holding lands both under raiyats at fixed rents and under occupancy raiyats.

A small area of land is cultivated by private Zamindars themselves.

The Government of Bihar enacted the Bihar Land Reforms Act, 1950 which provides for the liquidation of Zamindari system in the State.

The Bihar Land Reforms Act, 1950 was put into force with effect from 25th September 1950, and to start with, all estates and tenures with gross annual income exceeding Rs. 50,000 have been notified under section 3(1) of the Act. It was further decided to acquire all the Zamindaris in the districts of Gaya, Monghyr, Hazariabagh and Darbhanga. The smaller Zamindaris in these districts are in the process of acquisition.

* From the report of the Planning Commission.

The entire State barring a limited portion which is Khasmahal, is covered by the Zamindari and will be released in consequence of the abolition of Zamindari.

The Government has laid down a sliding scale for the assessment of compensation. Where the net income does not exceed Rs. 500, the compensation payable is twenty times the net income, and where the net income computed exceeds Rs. 1,00,000 it is payable at three times the amount.

The assessment of compensation for mines and minerals has either to be fixed by agreement or by a tribunal appointed for the purpose.

As for funds to finance compensation, the proposal for Zamindari abolition in Bihar has been drawn up as a self-liquidating scheme. So all the compensation money will be realised from the beneficiaries. The gross rental in the State is estimated at about Rs. 16 crores per annum which is likely to increase at the rate of Rs. 5 lakhs per year as a result of reclamation of waste lands, their development and of the development of forests.

The amount of compensation will be paid in cash or in bonds or partly in cash and partly in bonds. The bonds will be either negotiable or non-negotiable and non-transferable, and will be payable in forty equal instalments, and carry interest at two and a half per cent per annum with effect from the date of issue.

CIVIL SUPPLIES

Rationed articles and quantum of each per adult per week: Rice, Wheat and Milo up to 12 ounces per head per diem. No quantitative restriction on issue of wheat from Government stocks.

Monthly requirement of State according to the quota: 404,431 tons. This is met mainly by uncontrolled distribution of the internal production. Offtake from Government stocks is about 10,000 to 15,000 tons per month in normal year.

Coal and cement are subject to controlled distribution. Kerosene oil, caustic soda, ash, tanning materials, infant food, sulphur, etc. are subject to price control. The maximum price is fixed by the Central Government.

Present State quotas: Coal: 7,000 wagons quarterly; Cement: about 9,000 tons monthly. As these quotas do not move in full scarcity condition continues in respect of these commodities.

There is no control on prices or movement of foodgrains except on paddy and rice in the monopoly procurement area on selected grain outside the State.

All varieties of cloth except Chint, Markin and long cloth of medium and coarse varieties have been decontrolled. Price control on all counts of yarn still continues, 50 per cent of the mills' production of yarn is allotted to the State for controlled distribution. There is no restriction on the movement of cloth and yarn within the State.

There is no control on price of foodgrains.

State's annual requirements according to consumption during 1952:

Rice 2 lakh tons; wheat one lakh tons; millets 30,000 tons; sugar 60,000 tons; salt 69.5 lakh maunds.

Rice prices are almost the highest in India since imports into the State have almost completely stopped after controls.

Cloth and yarn 22,000 bales and 3,500 bales respectively per month.

The State is surplus in sugar and deficit in foodgrains, salt, cloth and yarn. Deficit of food grains especially rice: 3.5 lakh tons; salt: 70 lakh maunds, imported annually. Only 300 bales of cloth is produced by the local mills.

Import quotas during 1952:

Rice 7,795 tons; wheat 104,820 tons; milo 3,165 tons; sugar 60,000 tons; salt 69.5 lakh maunds.

Twenty to thirty thousand bales of cloth and two to three thousand bales of yarn are imported through trade channel.

Prices of overseas rice varies between Rs. 21 and Rs. 28-5-0 per maund; U.D. rice varies between Rs. 22-8-2 and Rs. 24-14-10 per maund. Wheat at Rs. 20-8-0 per maund and Rs. 18-8-8 per maund; milo at Rs. 11-8-0 per maund.

Procurement during the year: Rice 23,337 tons; Wheat 98 tons.

System of procurement: Monopoly and direct purchase only. Urban and industrial areas have to depend largely on imports as the marketable surplus of foodgrains in the rural areas is negligible.

There is no statutory rationing; only controlled distribution. Population living under controlled distribution: Urban 1,289,094; rural 5,375,878. No food subsidy by the State.

GEOGRAPHY

The State embraces a wide diversity of soil, climate and people. In the State there are the rich plains of Gujarat, watered by the Narmada and the Tapi, whose fertility is so marked that it has long been known as the Garden of India. South of Bombay City the State is divided into two sections by the Western Ghats, a range of hills running parallel to the coast. Beyond the Ghats are the Deccan Districts ; south of these come the Karnatak districts. On the sea side of the Ghats is the Konkan, a rice-growing tract, intercepted by creeks which make communication difficult.

The rainfall of the State is derived chiefly from the south-west monsoon between June and October. The amount of rainfall varies widely in different areas from 20" to about 260".

The population varies as markedly as soil and climate. The people of Gujarat although softened by prosperity, are among the keenest trading races in the world. The Deccan peasant has been seasoned by adversity ; the saying goes that the Deccan expects a famine one year in every three, and gets it. The population of the Deccan is much more homogeneous than that of Gujarat, thirty per cent being Mahatras. The Karnatak is the land of the Lingayets, a Hindu reforming sect of the twelfth century, and in the Konkan there is a large proportion of Christians. Three main languages are spoken. Gujarati, Marathi and Kannada with Hindi a rough lingua franca. Hindi in the Devanagari script is recognized by the Government as one of the regional languages of the State.

The principal occupation is agriculture, which supports sixty-four per cent of the population. In Gujarat the soils are of two classes, the black cotton soil, which yields the famous Broach cottons, the finest in India, and alluvial, which under careful cultivation in Ahmedabad and Kaira, makes splendid garden land. The dominant soil characteristic of the Deccan is black soil, which produces cotton, wheat, gram and millet, and in certain tracts rich crops of sugar-cane. The Konkan is a rice land, where the crop is grown under the abundant rains of the submontane regions, and in the south the Dharwar cotton vies with Broach as the best in India. There are no great perennial rivers suitable for irrigation, and the harvest is largely dependent upon the seasonal rainfall, supplemented by well irrigation. A chain of irrigation works, consisting of canals fed from great reservoirs in the region of unfalling rainfall in the Ghats, is gradually nearing completion, and this will ultimately make the Deccan immune to serious drought.

More than any other part of India, Bombay State is scourged by famine. The evils have not been unmixed, for tribulation has made the people more self-reliant, and the rise in the values of all produce, synchronising with a certain development of industry, has induced a considerable rise in the standard of living. The land is held on what is known as the ryotwari tenure, that is to say, each cultivator holds his land direct from the Government under a moderate assessment, and as long as he pays this assessment he cannot be dispossessed.

GREATER BOMBAY

With the inauguration of Greater Bombay on April 15, 1950, the limits of Bombay City have been extended to cover a total area of 91 sq. miles, of which 65 sq. miles constitute the newly merged areas. The northern boundary of Greater Bombay now extends in an irregular line from Madh and Versova in the west to Jogeshwari in the centre, and Bhandup in the east right up to the Thana Creek. The newly amalgamated region which formerly formed part of the Bombay Suburban District included the former Municipal areas of Bandra, Parle-Andheri, Juhu-Tara, Kurla and Ghatkopar-Kirol, besides 38 inhabited villages.

The old limit of Bombay City was upto the Mahim Creek. It was 11 miles in length and 2 to 3 miles in width with a total area of 26 sq. miles.

On the west, south and east sides of Bombay City, or Greater Bombay as it is now called, lies the Arabian Sea and on its north-eastern boundary lies the narrow Thana Creek.

The present population of Greater Bombay is 2,830,270 of which about 510,250 are in the merged areas.

The City which has a Corporation, was divided into 19 Wards for municipal purposes. As Greater Bombay, it now has 24 Wards. These are:—

Ward No. 1: Upper Colaba, Middle and Lower Colaba and Southern Fort; Ward No. 2: Fort Northern and Esplanade; Ward No. 3: Mandvi and Chakla; Ward No. 4: Umerkhadi and Dongri; Ward No. 5: Khara Talao and Kumbharwada; Ward No. 6: Bhuleshwar and Markets;

Ward No. 7: Dhobi Talao and Fanaswadi; Ward No. 8: Khetwadi and Tardeo; Ward No. 9: Girgaum and Chowpatty; Ward No. 10: Walkeshwar and Mahalaxmi; Ward No. 11: Mazgaon and Tarwadi; Ward No. 12: 1st Nagpada, 2nd Nagpada and Kamatipura; Ward No. 13: Byculla; Ward No. 14: Parel; Ward No. 15: Sewri and Naigaum; Ward No. 16: Matunga and Sion; Ward No. 17: Dadar and Mahim; Ward No. 18: Parbadevi and Worli; and Ward No. 19: Chinchpokli and Lovegrove.

The newly merged areas have been constituted into five major Wards—H. K. L. M. and N.—and seven electoral wards. These are Bandra East and Bandra West (H); Andheri-Parle North and Andheri-Parle South including Madh, Versova, Oshivra, Mijas and Juhu (K); Kurla, including Sahar, Parajapur, Vyaravli, Kondivta, Mulgaon, Bapnala, Marol, Chakala, Brahmanwada, Mohili, Chandivli, Saki, Asalpe and Tangwo (L); Chembur, Anik, Mahul, Trombay, Borla, Deonar, Mankhurd, Vadnavli, Maravli, Nanale, Mandale, Mambudruk (M); Ghatkopar, Bhandup, Kunjur, Harnali, Paspoli, Powai, Kopri, Tirandaz, Vikhroli (N).

The Corporation before the merger had 117 members elected from the 19 Wards. Now with 18 more members elected from the newly merged areas, the Greater Bombay Municipal Corporation has a total of 135 members.

Before the inauguration of Greater Bombay, the City had a yearly revenue of Rs. 6 crores, but now it is nearly 8 crores. From the B.E.S.T. Undertaking which is now run by the Municipality, Greater Bombay receives a revenue of over Rs. 7 crores.

What was left of the old Bombay Suburban District, after the merger of a part of it with Bombay City, has now been absorbed by Thana District. Strictly speaking, Bombay now has no suburbs, though for all practical purposes the populated areas beyond Greater Bombay's northern boundary may well be regarded as its "new suburbs". These include, Goregaon, Malad, Kandivlee, Borivli, the villages of Manori, Gorai, and Uttan in Dharavi Island, Dahisar and Bhayandar, on the fringe of Bassein Creek, served by the Western Railway, and Mulund and Thana served by the Central Railway.

In the process of amalgamation with Bombay City, the old Municipal Boroughs of Bandra (established in 1876), Kurla (estd. 1877), Parle-Andheri (estd. 1931), Juhu (estd. 1921) and the Ghatkopar-Kirol (estd. 1916) have ceased to exist.

AGRICULTURE

In Bombay Island proper though about 8 sq. miles of unbuilt and undeveloped land is available there is practically no agriculture. Vegetables, flowers and fruit are grown in private gardens and Wadis but on a very negligible scale. In the newly merged areas and the adjoining suburbs, however, extensive paddy cultivation is carried on. Vegetables and fruit are also grown especially during the monsoon. The produce is largely marketed in Bombay.

COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY

Commercially and industrially Bombay is the second if not the first City in India. It is the principal centre of the cotton textile industry (65 cotton mills with 65,200 looms). Its share in looms and spindles is about 33 and 28 per cent respectively of the total in the country. There are 166 textile factories including silk, woollen and hosiery; 395 engineering undertakings; 110 establishments manufacturing articles of food, drink and tobacco; 110 establishments producing chemicals, etc.; 50 hides and skins processing concerns, and 150 factories of a miscellaneous character.

After Calcutta, Bombay is the biggest financial centre in India. The Stock Exchange, Bullion Exchange and Cotton Exchange regulate trading in stocks and shares of a wide circle of industrial undertakings. The Reserve Bank of India, the central banking and currency authority, has its headquarters in Bombay and out of 85 scheduled banks in the Indian Union 28 have their head offices in Bombay. There are 15 foreign Exchange Banks and out of 222 insurance companies in the country 68 have their head offices in the city.

Being the best natural harbour in India, the trade carried through Bombay is more than 30 per cent of the total trade of India. The principal items of import are bricks, cement, sand, etc.; China clay; coal; cotton; glassware; grain; hardware; iron and steel; kerosene; fuel oil; motor cars and lorries; machinery; boilers and railway materials; oilman stores; oils; vegetables, etc.; paper; piece goods; petrol; sugar; tea; timber; twist and yarn; Government and naval and military stores.

The main exports are coal; cotton; flour; groundnuts; hemp; hides and skins; kerosene and fuel oils; manganese ore; myrobalans; oil cake; piece-goods; seeds; spices; sugar; wool packages; twist and yarn, Government and naval and military stores.

The total returns to the Central Government from Greater Bombay in customs revenue are not available, but it is about 40 per cent of the total revenue from the seaborne trade of India. The income-tax return to the Central Government from Greater Bombay is 25 per cent of the total income from the country. The Corporation Tax amounts to 40 per cent of the total income from this source.

COMMUNICATIONS

From the communications point of view Bombay holds a unique position. There are numerous air routes connecting Bombay with the rest of the country, and it is also directly linked with foreign countries aerially. The head offices of two chief railway systems, the Central and Western Railways are in Bombay which is rail linked with Calcutta, Delhi, Nagpur and Madras. It is the second biggest port and the chief sea communications centre of India. Greater Bombay's transport requirements are met by the local services of the two railways, Central and Western, besides the tram and bus services of the municipalised Bombay Electric Supply and Transport Undertaking.

THE BOMBAY CORPORATION

The municipal government of Greater Bombay vests in the Municipal Corporation, composed of 124 representatives elected on adult franchise.

The Corporation has four statutory committees, the Standing Committee, the Improvements Committee, the Education Committee and the Bombay Electric Supply and Transport Committee.

The executive power in regard to administration vests in the Municipal Commissioner. The administration of the B.E.S.T. Undertaking, however, vests in the General Manager.

The Corporation is required to meet at least once a month. In actual practice it meets twice a week and oftener if necessary. Meetings of the Corporation are presided over by the Mayor who also convenes the meetings. The Mayor's term of office is one year and he is elected at the first meeting in April.

The Standing Committee consists of 16 members, all of whom are elected by the Corporation. Half the members retire at the end of each year. The Chairman is elected by the members of the Committee at the first meeting every year. The main functions of the Committee are to sanction contracts, to scrutinize the budget and establishment schedule, frame service regulations, sanction investment of funds, prescribe the form of keeping accounts and conduct their scrutiny. The Committee meets once every week usually on Wednesdays.

The Improvements Committee consists of 16 Councillors, all of whom are elected by the Corporation. The Chairman is elected for a term of one year, while half the Councillors retire at the end of each year. The Committee is charged with all improvement and development schemes, slum clearance, poorer classes accommodation, purchase and sale of land which does not exceed Rs. 50,000. The Committee usually meets once a fortnight on Tuesdays.

The Bombay Electric Supply and Transport Committee consists of nine members, one of whom is the Chairman of the Standing Committee (ex-Officio), while the remaining members are appointed by the Corporation from among persons who (may or may not be members of the Corporation) have experience of administration, transport or electric supply, or of engineering, industrial, commercial, financial or labour matters. The Chairman is appointed by the members for a period of one year, while half the members retire every second year. The Committee usually meets every Friday; and the Chairman and members are paid a fee for attending the meetings. The Committee exercises a general control over the electric supply and transport undertakings of the Corporation.

The Education Committee consists of 16 members of whom 12 are Councillors and 4 non-Councillors. The Chairman of the Committee is elected, for a period of one year, while half the members retire at the end of each year. The Committee usually meets on the first Friday of every month. The main function of the Committee is to administer the Primary Education Act or any other law for the time being in force.

Besides the Statutory Committees mentioned above there are four Special Committees appointed by the Corporation. These are 1. the Works Committee, 2. the Medical Relief and Public Health Committee, 3. Markets and Gardens Committee, and 4. Law, Revenue and General Purposes Committee. Each Committee consists of 24 Councillors appointed by the Corporation after each general election. There are a Chairman and a Deputy Chairman for each Committee who are elected by the members and who hold office for one year. All questions that are due to go before the Corporation must first be considered by the appropriate Special Committee which then makes its recommendations to the Corporation.

Then there are a number of ad hoc Consultative Committees to which the Corporation can refer any matter for consideration and report. The Committees so appointed at present are 1. Grants-in-aid to various institutions in the City, 2. Greater Bombay, 3. Government orders in the matter of construction of new buildings, 4. Preparation of a thorough Municipal Electoral Roll, 5. Provision of an adequate number of play-grounds, gardens, etc. in each ward, 6. the Parulekar Report on Primary Education, 7. Co-ordination of Physical Culture Institutions in the City.

The four most important executives of the Corporation are the Municipal Commissioner, the General Manager of the Undertaking, the Municipal Secretary and the Municipal Chief Auditor.

The Municipal Commissioner is at the head of the Executive. He is usually a senior member of the Indian Civil Service and is appointed by the Government for a renewable period of three years. He can be removed by the Corporation by a five-eighths vote. If however Government desire to revert him to their service the consent of the Corporation is necessary. He attends meetings of the Corporation and Committees but does not vote. He is assisted by two Deputy Municipal Commissioners and one Assistant Commissioner, in addition, of course, to heads of departments.

The General Manager of the Undertaking is in the same position to the Electric Supply and Transport Undertaking as the Municipal Commissioner is to the Corporation as a whole. He is appointed by the Corporation subject to the approval of the Provincial Government for a renewable period of not more than five years at a time. He can be removed by the votes of not less than half the number of the Councillors. He attends the meetings of the B.E.S.T. Committee and takes part in the discussions but does not vote.

The Municipal Secretary is in charge of all the secretarial work pertaining to the Corporation and its Committees. He is independent of the Commissioner and is directly under the Standing Committee.

The Municipal Chief Auditor is also independent of the Commissioner and is directly under the Standing Committee.

Primary education is free and compulsory in the Bombay Suburban District and is the special responsibility of the Corporation.

There are at present 405 Municipal Schools and Classes conducted by the Education Committee and 291 Aided and Recognized Schools to which the Corporation makes grants or gives recognition. The total number of pupils in all Primary Schools on March 31, 1953 was 257,702 out of whom 188,150 were in Municipal Schools and 69,552 in Aided Schools. The Corporation grant to the Education Committee was Rs. 1,45,48,000. Of this Government contributed Rs. 30,58,875.

The Municipality maintains the Victoria and Albert Museum at Victoria Gardens and a number of free reading rooms and libraries (3 libraries in each ward, one for women and two for men).

As for medical relief the Municipality conducts one large fever hospital (Arthur Road), and three large general hospitals (K.E.M., Nair and Sion) and three hospitals for tuberculosis patients. Then there are 24 free dispensaries, five maternity homes, 15 ante-natal clinics, seven family planning clinics and one venereal diseases clinic.

WATER SUPPLY

The water supply of the City is drawn from three lakes: Tansa, Vihar and Tulsi. The Tansa Lake can supply about 100 million gallons per day and is the main source of water supply. It is situated about 66 miles north-east of Bombay. The Vihar Lake can supply 17.5 million gallons a day exclusively to the north-east part of the City and also partly to Chembur and Kurla. It is situated about 18 miles north of Bombay. The Tulsi Lake which is to the north-west of Vihar Lake supplies about 4 million gallons a day to H, K and L Wards.

Under Section 140 of the Bombay Municipal Corporation Act the Corporation can levy water tax on buildings, lands and premises in the City. The tax is fixed as a certain percentage of the rateable value of the building, land or premises. The present rate is 31 per cent. Under Section 169 the water supplied can also be charged on meter measurement and at the rates prescribed from time to time by the Standing Committee. Water tax is the first charge on a property under Section 141, and can be recovered from the owner by distress (Sections 203, 204) and is also recoverable from tenants by authorizing them to make payments from their rents (Section 200). The supply of water to any premises can be cut off in default of payment of water tax or any sum due for water or hire of meter or expenses of work done (Section 279(1)(a)). Copies of Water Charges Rules can be had from the office of the Hydraulic Engineer on payment of a sum of annas 8 per copy.

The newly added areas of the former Bombay Suburban District are divided into five wards for purposes of water supply H, K, L, M and N, with two Assistant Engineers in charge, one looking after H and K Wards and the other after L, M and N. The supply is through-out metered.

The obligatory duty of the Corporation to supply an adequate quantity of water relates to the provision of supply only up to the boundary of the premises, as distinguished from the distribution of water within the premises. Any premises can be served by means of one communication pipe only the size of which depends upon the quantity of water needed in the premises. The owner can have separate connections to each floor provided he pays the cost of all the connections but one.

If the Municipal Commissioner finds that any premises are not provided with an adequate supply of pure water he has the power under Section 271(2) to compel the person who pays the property tax to obtain an adequate supply from a Municipal Water Works and carry out all such works as is necessary for a proper distribution of the water.

No one except a licensed plumber can undertake work on water-pipes and fittings and no person can allow any such work to be done by anyone except a licensed plumber.

For purposes of distribution Bombay is divided into 3 parts, called A Division, B Division and C Division. Broadly speaking, the A Division consists of the areas of Clerk Road, Hornby Vellard up to Jacob Circle, Lamington Road, part of Grant Road, Kika Street, Abdul Rehman Street and Carnac Road up to the Victoria Dock in the north, and on the west coast along Back Bay, Walkeshwar, Nepean Sea Road and Warden Road up to Clerk Road Junction—this Division is served by the Malabar Hill Reservoir.

Division B consists of the localities of Kalachowki Road, Reay Road, Coal Bunder in the north, on the eastern coast up to Carnac Road, Abdul Rehman Street, Kika Road, Falkland Road and part of Grant Road up to Lamington Road in the south, in the west Lamington Road and Arthur Road and finally some areas of Dongri and Mandvi and Mazagon. The whole of this Division is supplied from the Bhandarwada Hill Reservoir. The C Division, that is the north of the Island is served directly from the Trunk mains as they enter the City.

The quantity of water given through the Malabar Hill Reservoir is 32 million gallons a day, through the Bhandarwada Reservoir 18 and the quantity given directly 70 million gallons.

A word about prevention of waste is in order. It is not possible for the Waste Prevention staff to inspect every building. If any leakage of water is noticed the public is requested to immediately inform the Babula Tank Central Enquiry Office, Telephone No. 71215-16. Water-taps in private buildings are re-washed free of charge by the Department on request.

The Tansa supply is chlorinated at the Chlorination Plants of Powal and Ghatkopar, while the Vihar supply is sterilized at Powal. When there is any difficulty in obtaining liquid chlorine bleaching powder is used, the Tansa water being chlorinated at Bhandup and the Vihar at the source. The Tulsi supply is treated with potassium permanganate and alum and is passed through seven beds of sand filters. With a view to keeping up the standard of residual chlorine an extra dose is injected into the inlet mains at Futka Tank, Malabar Hill and Bhandarwada Reservoirs. Sometimes mains are also re-chlorinated by means of portable chlorine acts.

There is a fortnightly bacteriological and chemical analysis of water carried out by the Municipal Analyst.

PUBLIC HEALTH DEPARTMENT

The Public Health activities are carried on under the direct control and supervision of the Executive Health Officer. The Department is divided into several branches such as conservancy and sanitation, food sanitation, vital statistics, prevention and control of communicable diseases, maternity and child hygiene, medical relief and health propaganda.

The Conservancy Branch is in the charge of a Head Supervisor who has an Assistant. Under them are Supervisors, Senior Overseers, Junior Overseers, Depot attendants, etc. The Veterinary staff is under a Senior Veterinary Inspector, who has a number of Junior Inspectors and qualified veterinary surgeons.

MUNICIPAL BUDGET (1953-54)

Here are some of the more important facts of the revised municipal budget for 1953-54 as presented to the Corporation by the Chairman of the Standing Committee.

	Lakhs
Income	Rs. 873.16
Expenditure	884.46
Deficit	11.30

The important change made by the Standing Committee in the budget proposals presented by the Municipal Commissioner was to raise the provision for supply of milk to under-nourished children in municipal schools from Rs. 7 lakhs to Rs. 8 lakhs.

In the budget for Primary Education presented by the Chairman of the Education Committee, a few cuts in the expenditure under contingencies were effected while increasing allotments under educational activities.

Capital Account

The total amount provided is Rs. 585.38 lakhs. Out of this Rs. 509.62 are for works in progress, Rs. 20.76 lakhs for new works and Rs. 55.00 for purchase of capital stores. Among the major works for which funds have been provided are (1) Strengthening of Tansa Dam, Rs. 40.00 lakhs, (2) Vantarna-cum-Tansa Scheme, Rs. 275.00 lakhs.

B.E.S.T. BUDGET

The budget estimates of the Bombay Electric Supply and Transport Undertaking, for 1953-54, as finally adopted by the Bombay Municipal Corporation show a surplus of more than Rs. 36 lakhs.

The income of the Undertaking, including the opening balance of one lakh of rupees is placed at Rs. 763.66 lakhs. The expenditure is estimated at Rs. 726.80 lakhs.

The table below shows an outline of the budget :—	Lakhs
Estimated opening balance	Rs. 1.00

ESTIMATED INCOME :—

Electric Supply	298.88
Tramways	153.47
Buses	310.31
Total	763.66

ESTIMATED EXPENDITURE :—

Electric Supply	249.74
Tramways	200.25
Buses	276.81
Total	726.80
Surplus	36.86

The surplus will be disbursed as follows: Transfer to the municipal funds, as required by the Bombay Municipal Corporation Act, Rs. 34.00 lakhs; and transfers to various funds, Rs. 1.86 lakhs. This leaves a closing of Rs. 1.00 lakh.

The foregoing figures show that the electric supply section is estimated to yield a surplus of Rs. 49.14 lakhs and the working of the buses is anticipated to result in a surplus of Rs. 33.50 lakhs. The tramways section is expected to show a loss of Rs. 46.78 lakhs.

Provision has been made in the 1953-54 budget for the purchase of 50 new buses. At the end of 1953-54 the fleet will consist of 565 buses according to the present programme.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS IN BOMBAY

UNIVERSITY OF BOMBAY

Incorporated under Act XXII of 1857 (subsequently amended by Act VII of 1904, by Act IV of 1928 and Act XXXI of 1953.

The Senate meets ordinarily once a year, between the 20th January and 15th February on a date fixed by, and at other times convened by the Vice-Chancellor. A meeting of the Senate can be convened on the requisition of any twenty of the Fellows to the Vice-Chancellor. Twenty members of the Senate form a quorum; and all questions are decided by a majority of the votes of the members present, the Chairman, when the numbers are equal, having a second or casting vote. There are six Faculties, viz., Arts, Science, Technology, Law, Medicine and Commerce. Each Faculty elects its own Dean. The Annual Convocation for conferring degrees is held on the third Tuesday in August.

The Executive Government of the University is vested in the Syndicate. The Vice-Chancellor is the Chairman of the Syndicate.

COLLEGES

BHAVAN'S COLLEGE

Andheri, Bombay.

This College at Andheri is a constituent institution of the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan, Bombay, of which Shri K. M. Munshi is the President. The College was started in June 1946, with the help of the munificent donations of Seth Gordhandas Megji (in memory of his father, Seth Megji Mathradas) and of Seth Gordhandas P. Sonawala and other partners of Messrs. Narrondass Manordass (in memory of Seth Narrondass Manordass).

The College is situated in ideal surroundings in the Nav Gujarat camps bounded by the Gilbert Hill on the east, the Juhu creek and beach on the south and west and by the Versova Road on the north. Far removed from the din and bustle, it is yet within easy reach of the metropolis.

The College is affiliated to the University of Bombay for courses of studies leading to B.A., B.Sc., and Ph.D. Degrees.

A large hostel for boys and a ladies' hostel as well as a National Cadet Corps platoon are also attached to the College. There is also a Land Army attached to the College.

Principal :—F. Correia-Afonso, M.A. (Oxon.).

BOMBAY VETERINARY COLLEGE

Parel, Bombay.

This institution is maintained by the Government of Bombay and provides a full course of instruction in Veterinary Science. Clinical and other facilities are afforded to meet veterinary educational requirements in the Bai Sakerbai Dinshaw Petit Hospital for Animals which adjoins the College. The object of the College is to train competent practitioners for veterinary service under Government, for private practice, for service in other States and for special posts under Municipalities, District Local Boards, &c. GOVERNMENT LAW COLLEGE

Bombay.

The foundation of this Institution is due to a subscription raised by the inhabitants of Bombay in November 1852 on the eve of the departure from India of Chief Justice Sir Thomas Erskine Perry to found a Professorship of Jurisprudence to commemorate his long connection with Law and Education in India. In accordance with the Ordinance passed by the Bombay University in 1929, the Principal of the Government Law College, Bombay, was appointed by the Bombay University as a University Teacher for post-graduate instruction in Law and the necessary arrangements for admission of students for the LL.M. Degree Course were made from the commencement of the term June to October 1930. It was converted from a part-time college into a full-time one from June 1938, the fundamental changes being as under :—

1. Admission is open to I.A., I.Sc., or I.Coms., with whole-time instruction as in the Arts Colleges.
2. The course is to consist of two years, as before, but the subject of English, Precise and Essay writing is added to the First LL.B. Course, with some adjustment of the subjects for the two old LL.B. Examinations.
3. After two years' training in the College, the student has to pass the examination held by the Bombay Bar Council if he intends to practise in Courts.

Lectures are delivered on the following subjects :—

(1) Succession and Family Rights, with special reference to Hindu and Muhammadan Law; (2) The Law of Property (including the Law of Transfer) and the Land Revenue Code, the Law of Easements; (3) Equity, with special reference to the Law of Trusts and Specific Relief; (4) The Law of Evidence, Civil Procedure and Limitation; (5) Company Law and the Law of Insolvency; (6) Roman Law; (7) Elements of general Jurisprudence; (8) Constitutional Law and Government of India Acts; (9) The Law of Contracts (including Indian Sale of Goods Act, Indian Partnership Act, Negotiable Instruments Act and Mercantile Law) and the Law of Torts; (10) The Law of Crimes and Criminal Procedure Code; (11) English, Essays and Precise Writing.

S. N. D. THACKERSEY WOMEN'S UNIVERSITY

1, Nathibai Thackersey Road, Queen's Road, Bombay No. 1.

The idea of this University was first conceived by Dr. D. K. Karve who had two ideals in view, namely (1) the use of mother-tongue as the most natural and effective medium of instruction and (2) differentiation in the courses of study at a certain stage to suit the different roles played by men and women in the social and economic life of the country. It is a teaching University and was inaugurated in 1916. Dr. Karve was the first Registrar and Dr. Ramkrishna Bhandarkar, the first Chancellor. A High School and a College (at Poona) were later affiliated to it. Thanks to public support and a magnificent donation of Rs. 15,00,000 from Sir Vithaldas Thackersey, Dr. Karve's ambition was soon realised.

The University began to function as a Statutory Body with effect from 13th January 1951 by an Act known as 'Bom. Act No. LI of 1949' and Diwan Bahadur K. M. Jhaveri, M.A., LL.B. has been elected its Vice-Chancellor.

The University conducts two Arts colleges and two high schools (in Poona and Bombay) and two Colleges, one at Ahmedabad and one at Baroda. The Government of India and the Government of Bombay in 1942 recognised its work by an initial grant of Rs. 1,00,000 each for the purpose of erecting a building and an annual recurring grant of Rs. 7,500 each since 1948. Its premises were declared open by the late Lord Brabourne, the then Governor of Bombay. The Government of Bombay and the Government of India have each sanctioned a non-recurring additional grant of Rs. 600,000.

The Senate is the Supreme Governing Body. It meets ordinarily once a year and consists of 85 members: 40 elected, 11 nominated, 32 ex-officio, and 2 special members. The Annual Convocation for conferring the Degrees is generally held in the month of August.

The executive government of the University is vested in a Syndicate consisting of the Vice-Chancellor, Lady Thackersey, Dr. D. K. Karve, the D. P. I., Dean of Faculty of Arts, Principals of colleges and 10 Fellows elected by the Senate for three years.

Chancellor : Girja Shanker Bajpai, M.A., Governor of Bombay

SIR JAMSETJEE JEEJEEBHROY SCHOOL OF ART

Hornby Road, Fort.

This School of Art was established in 1857, Sir Jamsetji Jijibhoy, the first Baronet contributing Rs. 1,00,000 towards its endowment on condition that Government provided suitable buildings and engaged a competent staff from England and India. The first buildings were temporary structures, but in 1878 a Drawing, Modelling and Design School was erected at a cost of Rs. 2,00,000. To this in 1882 was added a second building to accommodate the Reay Art Workshops which cost Rs. 50,000 while in 1907 a third building called the Sir George Clarke Technical Laboratory and Studio was built at a cost of Rs. 98,000. Since then further workshops connected with the Pottery Laboratory have been built costing Rs. 25,000, and in all, Government have expended approximately Rs. 4,00,000 on buildings erected upon nearly three acres of Government ground. The third building is now used as the School of Architecture as the Technical and Pottery Laboratories were discontinued in 1926. In 1935, a new Section was introduced in the School of Art, for the training of Commercial Art in all its branches. The Section has now developed to a full course of 4 years, awarding Government Diploma in Commercial Art. The Government of Bombay inaugurated the first year Degree course in Architecture commencing from 1952-53 and progressively the Diploma Course into a Degree course. Along the main course of study in Commercial Art, the students are also trained in the allied technical subjects such as Photography, Block-making, Lithography, Interior Decoration—Design, Interior Decoration—Crafts, Printing, Modern Packaging and Bookbinding. Courses of study covering a period of five years are held in the following subjects: drawing and painting, sculpture, architecture, commercial art and design. In the workshops instruction is given in cabinet making, wood and stone carving, metal work, and house decoration. The training of drawing teachers for all high schools is carried out in a normal school established for that purpose.

A small Art Museum containing specimens of Indian and European art is attached to the school.

Numerous Government and private scholarships and prizes are awarded to the best students of the school, while special Government scholarships for backward class students are also available in a small number. Stipendiary scholars are sent to the School by the State Governments and foreign countries such as Ceylon, Pakistan and Africa.

BOMBAY CITY SOCIAL EDUCATION COMMITTEE

Bhatia Mitra Mandal Bhuvan, Opp. G.P.O., Fort, Bombay.

This Committee formerly known as the Bombay City Adult Education Committee has been constituted by the popular Government of Bombay since 1939 and reconstituted every three years in order that the literacy and social education campaign in Bombay is organised and carried on properly and on permanent basis. The new orientation of Adult Education into Social Education is now fully accepted. Besides literacy, the Committee imparts general knowledge in health, personal and community hygiene and sanitation, civics, etc.

Shri B. G. Kher, the Ex-Chief Minister of Government of Bombay and now High Commissioner for India in U.K., Shri Mangaldas Pakvasa and the Shri Gulzarilal Nanda, now Minister for Planning, Government of India, have guided the Committee as Presidents in the past. Since 1949, Shri Champaklal G. Modi, a retired Judge of Bombay and an active member of the Committee has been appointed as its President. Shri K. T. Mantri worked as the Secretary till June 1948. Thereafter Shri B. M. Kapadia is the Secretary and Social Education Officer of the Committee.

The Committee is carrying on the campaign according to the Ten-Year Plan prepared in 1946, with a view to liquidating illiteracy from the adult population numbering about 600,000, within the years, at the aggregate cost of Rs. 55,00,000. The Plan has been supplemented by "The New Approach to the Ten-Year Plan". The Committee's jurisdiction has been extended since 1950 to the whole of Greater Bombay. The Committee has a special scheme of educating workers in mills and factories. 112 classes are now working in about 41 mills.

Activities.—The Committee runs 2,000 literacy centres per year in Marathi, Gujarati, Hindi, Urdu, Kannada, Telugu; runs 600 post-literacy centres; arranges cultural programmes every week; arranges cinema programmes every day; circulates library boxes; arranges science and other exhibitions for the enlightenment of the illiterate masses.

Finances.—The annual expenditure is about Rs. 3,50,000. The Government of Bombay pays 50 per cent of actual expenditure. The Municipality grants Rs. 1,00,000. Sir Dorabjee Tata, Sir Ratan Tata Trusts and N. M. Wadia Charities make regular contributions amongst others.

A special annual feature is the Social Education Week celebration to collect funds and to propagate social education.

Achievements.—In the last 13 years, the Committee has educated in literacy and other general knowledge in Marathi, Hindi, Urdu, Gujarati and Telugu languages more than 250,000 adults of whom 45,000 were women at a total cost of Rs. 21,45,415. Adults are provided all facilities free.

THE BRITISH COUNCIL

REGIONAL OFFICE AND LIBRARY.—French Bank Bldg., Homji Street, Fort.

The British Council is a body under Charter to Her Majesty the Queen and is the principal agent in Britain for the development of cultural relations with foreign and Commonwealth countries. It works in some sixty countries, in addition to extensive activities in the United Kingdom itself.

Its main functions are the conveying of a knowledge of Britain to other countries. This it does by encouraging intercourse and the exchange of ideas between technical, professional, and educational groups in Britain, and similar groups in countries abroad. It fosters a knowledge of the English language and trains teachers to that end. It co-operates with overseas universities, schools and societies to further those studies. It grants over 200 scholarships every year to allow students to visit Britain and undertake courses of study. Ten such scholarships are awarded in India each year. The welfare of students from the Colonies is its special responsibility. It has welfare and other institutions for foreign students in the larger towns of Britain. In addition, it invites selected individual visitors to Britain as its guests, and gives, wherever possible, help and advice to visitors from overseas who go to Britain of their own accord. It is the administering body for Fellowships awarded by United Nations' specialised agencies for study in Britain.

In literature, music, drama, the fine arts, pure science, engineering, medicine and agriculture, it provides manifestations abroad, sending lecturers, exhibitions and other works. It establishes libraries and reading rooms.

The objects for which the Company is established are to promote, inculcate and propagate the doctrines of Theosophy; and to do all things conducive to the advancement of Theosophy, e.g., to hold meetings and classes; to print, publish, edit and circulate books and magazines; and to accept any funds for the purposes of the Company and to hold and apply the same according to the character thereof for the purposes of the Company.

Hon. Secretary.—N. A. Subramaniam.UNITED LODGE OF THEOSOPHISTS

51, Mahatma Gandhi Road, Bombay 1.

The policy of this Lodge is independent devotion to the cause of Theosophy, without professing attachment to any Theosophical organisation.

It holds that the unassailable BASIS FOR UNION among Theosophists, wherever and however situated is SIMILARITY OF AIM, PURPOSE AND TEACHING, and therefore has neither constitution nor bye-laws nor officers, the sole bond between its associates being that basis. It aims at disseminating this idea among Theosophists in the furtherance of unity, and is devoted to the following three objects:—

1. To form the nucleus of Universal Brotherhood of Humanity, without distinction of race, creed, sex, caste or colour.
2. The study of ancient and modern religions, philosophies and sciences, and the demonstration of the importance of such study.
3. The investigation of the unexplained laws of nature and the psychical powers latent in man.

ST. STEPHEN'S

Bandra Hill, Bombay.

The situation of this little House of God is very charming, overlooking the Arabian Sea with its peaceful "God's-acre". The exterior is plain and it is a twin edifice to St. Paul's Matheran, with a spacious porch, a small nave, three transepts, in the easternmost of which is placed the Altar, and a vestry abuts on the south side, whilst at the west end is a small turret. The Church was consecrated by the Right Rev. John Harding, D.D., on December 20th, 1853, and the Baptismal Register commences in 1856. The Parish of St. Stephen's, Bandra, is combined with that of St. Mary the Virgin, Parol.

ST. THOMAS' CATHEDRAL

Vir Nariman Street, Bombay 1.

The first scheme for building a Church on the Island of Bombay originated in 1675, the English Services then being conducted in a Hall in the Castle. Money was collected, but though the Church was commenced, it never got higher than fifteen feet. In 1715 The Reverend Richard Cobbe appealed to have this stigma removed, and on Christmas Day, 1718, the church was opened with great rejoicings. In 1814 Bombay had been made an Archdeaconry of Calcutta and on 7th June 1816 the church was consecrated with all due solemnity by the Right Rev. Thomas Fanshawe Middleton, D.D. In 1837 Bombay was created a Bishopric, and in 1838, on the enthronement of Dr. Carr, the first Bishop, it was notified to be the Cathedral Church of the See, under the dedication of St. Thomas the Apostle. The present pinnacled tower was erected consisting of a lantern standing upon a square tower at its base, the whole rising 146 feet from ground level and containing a clock with three small quarter bells each suitably inscribed. There are two Silver Chalice of particular interest, one being the gift of Governor Gerald Aungler whilst the other's history is bound up in mystery and is inscribed "The gift of the Greenland merchants of the City of York 1632." In 1867-68 the present beautiful chancel and organ chamber were constructed, the first stone being laid by Sir Bartle Frere. It ceased to be a Government maintained Church on 31st March 1948, and is now maintained by voluntary contributions.

CHURCH OF SCOTLAND—BOMBAY STATE

THE SCOTS KIRK, BOMBAY.

11, Waudby Road, Bombay 1

The Scots Kirk, Bombay is an overseas Parish of the Church of Scotland. The present building dates from 1819. In 1938 it was enlarged and renovated after the union of St. Andrew's Church with St. Columba's Church on Waudby Road, and air-conditioned. It is now one of the finest Church buildings in the city. The furniture incorporates designs from the carved stones on the Holy Island of Iona. The massive Silver Communion Service was given by the East India Company in 1819, and is of thistle shape and design and there are many memorials to former ministers and members on the West Wall of the Church.

Services are at 9-30 a.m. and 6-30 p.m. Holy Communion is celebrated at Christmas, Easter, and on the first Sundays of February, May, August and November.

The late Sheth Tulsidas Gopalji, who belonged to the South Bhanushali community of Porbander, left by his will of 1824 certain landed properties in Bombay, the rental proceeds of which were to be utilised for religious and charitable purposes. The charming Temples of Shri Ranchhodji, Shri Mahadeo and Shri Vitthoba situated on Warden Road at its junction with Pedder Road, and the beautiful tank, a sanatorium and a dharmashala adjacent to them, are maintained from the proceeds of those properties, a part of which is also regularly spent on repairs to temples at Muttra and Vrindavan. The balance of the proceeds is utilised towards the grant of scholarships and for gifts to medical, educational and scientific institutions.

In December 1937, the Trust properties belonging to the old Dhakleshwar Temple Trust at Mahaluxmi were amalgamated, by an order of the High Court of Bombay, with the properties of the Tulsidas Gopalji Charities. The Annual fair held on Dhakleshwar lands during Navratri Puja days of Shri Mahaluxmi is the principal feature of the old Dhakleshwar Temple Trust.

DADAR SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND

Main Road, Dadar, Bombay 14.

The School was established in 1900 by the late Miss Anna Millard. It was opened during famine times, admitting blind of all age. It gradually developed into an educational institution. Its management has, since April 1, 1948, been with the Blind Relief Association of Bombay.

The School is the only school for blind girls and infants of pre-school age. It is a residential boarding school fully secular in character and charitable in conduct. It aims at making the children self-supporting and self-respecting citizens and helps them take, as contributive members, their rightful place in society.

General education is given up to Marathi Fifth Standard in all subjects. In special cases, however, it is extended through the high school. Extra-curricular activities, such as, scouting and girl-guiding, excursions, socials, musicals and dramatics, etc. are a part of education. Domestic science in practice is a special feature for girls, as gardening and kindred work is for boys.

Physical education plays an important part in the education of blind children who are normally slow in movements and sedentary in habits.

Social education is no less important in building character and personality. It has for objective elimination of certain inherent mannerisms in the Blind, which the sighted hardly overlook.

Vocational education comprises work on cane, sisal and other fibres, bead and other materials, knitting and sewing and occupational therapy. This consists for the present of making rugs, tea-cosies, string-bags, paper-work, etc.

Music, both vocal and instrumental, is by far the most wage-earning vocation for the Indian blind, and the school does its duty conscientiously in this regard. It can boast of an orchestral party, composed mostly of little girls.

Under the co-ordination scheme, sponsored by the Government through the State Council on Blindness, it is fast emerging as an exclusive institution for girls with co-education only up to Kindergarten Standard. Another scheme now under consideration is to open a section for a Sunshine Home Nursery School.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY, BOMBAY

83, Lady Hardinge Road, Mahim, Bombay 16.

A quarter century has passed since the inauguration of Children's Aid Society, Bombay. Founded on the 1st May, 1927, the Society became the pioneer in child welfare work under the Bombay Children Act of 1924.

Until 1938, its activities were mainly restricted to managing a Remand Home and a junior certified school on the premises of what once was a jail and at present this institution is a major service centre for all handicapped children coming to it for help.

The Society in September, 1939 launched an experiment which aimed to give expression to new trends in Corrections, when it constructed at Chembur a major certified school on a cottage home plan. This plan aimed at providing the juveniles with conditions conducive to the development of their physical and mental well-being. The agency had in mind particularly the case of a juvenile from the predominantly rural area. The next two years saw the birth of a specialised institution for the care and treatment of the mentally deficient children, the only one certified school of its kind in India.

In July 1947, the management of a reformatory institution, viz. the David Sassoon Industrial School, whose origin dated back to the year 1843, came to be handed over to the Society.

Starting in 1927 with a budget of not more than Rs. 40,000 to take physical care of about 125 children, the Society today spends about a million rupees on the maintenance, training and re-habilitation of about 3,500 children and provides them with services and positive satisfactions of life. The agency thus helps 30 per cent of the total number of children being taken care of in the Bombay State.

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE BRIGADE OVERSEAS

Parsi Division

Lady Willingdon Building, 1,
 Mahatma Gandhi Road, Fort, Bombay.

The Parsi Division of the St. John Ambulance Brigade Overseas is a benevolent organisation of 105 members who work in the interest of the old Order of Chivalry—of which King George VI was the Sovereign Head and Patron. They devote their spare time to alleviate the sufferings of the sick and the injured.

Members are required to fulfil the condition of "Efficiency" every year as per Regulations, hence the membership is a passport and qualification to undertake first aid duty. They attend open air Public Gatherings, Public Ceremonies or Processions, Elections, Reviews, Shows, Football, Cricket, and Hockey Matches, Exhibitions, Races, Sports, Places of Amusements, Railway Accidents, Fires, Disturbances, Strikes, House Collapses, etc., and on occasions where large bodies of people are present and where there is a probability of accidents occurring. During the Bombay Docks Explosions on 14-4-1944 and two months after when demolition work was going on, members rendered "excellent service" as characterised by Military and Naval Authorities.

The Division has extended its activities by holding Health, Maternity and Infant Welfare Exhibitions, jointly with the Parsi Nursing Division, with free admission to all, to educate the public mind on health rules. The first Exhibition was held in April 1933 and the last in May 1938. It was visited on each occasion by more than 50,000 citizens of Bombay and Suburbs, as it was kept open for nine days each time. They also held an A.R.P. Exhibition for nine days in March 1942 to make the public air minded and it was equally successful. The Division also organised classes for Air Raid Precautions. More than 12,000 persons had been trained in the subject. This includes A.R.P. Instructors, A.R.P. Personnel, Fire Fighters, Anti-Gas Cleansing Personnel, etc. Members had also volunteered their services as A.R.P. Volunteers on First Aid Posts as well as for military evacuation duty in World Wars Nos. 1 and 2.

REMOVAL OF SICK AND INJURED.—The Division possesses three very comfortable Motor Ambulances and has a sufficient number of members qualified in Invalid Transport and renders service to remove the sick and the injured to Hospitals, Railway Stations, Sanatoria, X-Ray Rooms, day and night as far as possible.

The Division also started a Cadet Division in 1925, which has proved a good feeder to the parent Division.

The Division is maintained by Donations from the Parsi Community as a Society.

It is the first Division in India to have a building of its own called Lady Willingdon Building, opened on 9th April, 1932, by Sir Frederick Sykes, the then Governor of Bombay.

CITY FEVER (INFECTIOUS DISEASES) HOSPITALS

Arthur Road, Jacob Circle, Bombay.

These Hospitals, which are equipped and maintained by the Municipal Corporation, Greater Bombay, reopened at Arthur Road on the outbreak of an epidemic of small-pox in 1892. Previous to this, in the year 1888, the Bombay Municipality started a hospital at Grant Road called the Grant Road Infectious Diseases Hospital. This hospital was generally opened during the epidemics of small-pox and cholera and was closed during the rest of the year. The hospital worked for four, six, one and seven months during the years 1888, 1889, 1890 and 1891 respectively. It was permanently closed on 26th July 1892, and the patients, furniture, etc., were transferred to Arthur Road. This hospital was made ready for the admission of patients on 12th March, 1892, and was known as The Arthur Road Hospital for Infectious Diseases. But when the small-pox section was entirely separated from the general section, the name was changed to "City Fever Hospitals". In the beginning, patients suffering from cholera and small-pox were chiefly admitted and treated, but now patients suffering from all infectious diseases except leprosy and tuberculosis are treated here. During the first outbreak of plague in 1896, patients suffering from the disease were treated at this Hospital, and then onwards till 1901, 6,382 plague patients were treated. Since 1901 the admission of plague patients into this Hospital was discontinued, and a separate hospital known as Maratha Hospital was started for such cases in 1902. But from 1930, the Maratha Hospital is exclusively maintained for advanced tuberculosis and road-side cases, and the admission of plague cases in the City Fever Hospital was resumed.

At present the hospital is divided into two units, one for small-pox and the other for all other infectious diseases except tuberculosis. The accommodation in the former unit is for 254 patients and in the latter for 123 patients. One separate ward with accommodation for 14 beds is reserved for Yellow Fever cases, the maintenance cost of which is borne by the Government of Bombay. The average number of patients treated has been constantly on the increase and the maximum number of patients treated on one day has reached over 800 during the height of small-pox epidemic.

TATA MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Hospital Avenue, Parcel.

This Hospital, founded by the Trustees of the Sir Dorabji Tata Trust for the purpose of investigation and treatment of cancer and allied conditions, was opened by the Governor of Bombay on 28th February, 1941. The hospital is devoted to the treatment of one type of disease and almost all the medical and scientific members of its staff are full-time workers. The building has been planned on lines similar to the New Memorial Hospital at New York and its specialised function has been responsible for its unique design and conception in this country.

The Institute is equipped with the most modern scientific appliances for diagnosis and treatment.

X-ray and Radium Department.—Besides very efficient diagnostic units for specialised work, the X-ray Department is fitted with high and low voltage appliances for superficial and deep radiation therapy. Two grammes of radium costing nearly 2 lakhs of rupees are put into solution and the emanated gas—radon—is extracted, purified and collected in gold and glass tubing. The quantity of gas is accurately measured and the tubes after calibration and sealing are supplied in specially designed applicators for the treatment of patients in different regions of the body.

Surgical Department.—There are three up-to-date operating theatres built with walls of glass bricks on one side to exclude dust and other extraneous material and to let in sufficient light during day time. The theatres are all air-conditioned and the incoming air is filtered, sterilized, cooled and dehumidified before being distributed by means of ducts. The supply of oxygen, nitrous oxide and compressed air is ensured through pipes from a central supply room.

Laboratories.—There are well-equipped pathological, chemical and physics laboratories, where routine work and investigations are carried out on material sent from the clinics. The Hospital has facilities for storing and preserving blood or plasma and blood transfusions are undertaken in serious cases at very short notice.

The Hospital has a maximum capacity of 100 beds. It is essentially a charitable institution but private patients are expected to pay a fee.

The Out-Patient Department is open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on all days except Sundays.

Heads of Departments.—Col. P. B. Bharucha, O.B.E., D.S.O., F.R.C.S. (Eng.), I.M.S. (Retd.), Superintendent; Dr. V. R. Khanolkar, M.D. (Lond.), B.Sc. (Lond.), Hon. Director of Laboratories; Dr. K. OIL MERCHANTS' CHAMBER

281-83, Narsi Natha Street, Bombay 9.

Object : To do everything for the benefit and advancement of oil trade industry in Bombay State and elsewhere in India.

The chamber has standard rules and regulations and practically the whole of vegetable oil trade in Bombay is being done under the contracts of this Chamber. The Chamber has its own arbitration machinery for settlement of trade disputes. Besides its normal activities the Chamber maintains a Laboratory under its auspices for analysis of various oils and has arrangements for analysis of oilseeds and oilcakes as well.

For the collection and dissemination of information and statistical data pertaining to oil and oilseeds as well as for the advancement of this trade and industry the Chamber has been publishing an exclusive Journal devoted to oils and oilseeds Oils and Oilseeds Journal. This is of course a pioneering endeavour on the part of this Chamber in the country.

The Chamber had taken a notable lead in convening an All India Conference of Associations of Oil Industry & Trade in July 1950. The Conference culminated in the formation of the Central Organisation for Oil Industry & Trade.

An analytical laboratory for analysis of samples of oils, oilseeds and oilcakes, symposium on oils and fats, held under its auspices during February 1953 are some of the notable services rendered by this Chamber to oil industry & trade. The Chamber issues certificates of sampling and analysis, certificate of weightment, certificate of origin of goods, etc. for the convenience of export trade as well as local trade at very nominal cost.

GOLWALLA'S VICTORIA SWIMMING BATH

Back Bay, Fort, Bombay.

This has been a Cosmopolitan Swimming Pool since 1901, and over 100,000 people of both sexes have learnt Swimming, Diving and Water Polo.

The Baths will be remodelled in the near future and a modern Olympic Swimming Pool, Restaurant, Boat Club and other amenities will be given to the public of Bombay.

Appreciating the vital need of a cosmopolitan institution on the same lines, however, the late Golwalla Bros. acquired a site on Back Bay Shore and on March 21, 1900, Sir Lawrence Jenkins, the then Chief Justice, laid the foundation stone of what is known, as the Golwalla Bros' Victoria Swimming Bath.

In addition to other aquatic activities Messrs. Golwalla Bros. introduced Water Polo in Bombay in 1903, the first seen in India, and since then it has become a very popular feature in Bombay.

The Bath has also a most up-to-date Rowing and Boating Club for the benefit of all its members and a modern Restaurant.

The Bath is open to all communities of both sexes and special personal instruction in Swimming, Diving, Life Saving, Water Polo, Rowing, etc., is given by a staff of well qualified teachers.

how well dressed is your publicity?

If advertising is salesmanship in print, good design is the dress that clothes it.

A good piece of publicity is a sales and prestige builder. When you spend so much on printing and mailing, you owe it to yourself to get the best value for your money by dressing your publicity well. Come to us for good design. We have been designing for leading industrial and business houses for 18 years and give specialised service for every type of designing, block-making and printing job.
